   After three days and nights the leopard is still in the lighthouse. The people want to catch the leopard, but they don't know how to do it. The Head Man of Sindi has a beautiful daughter called Tanza and he says, ‘The man who kills the leopard can marry my daughter.’
   In the end, a kind young man called Saied shoots the leopard with a special dart. The leopard isn't dead, he is only sleeping. Saied takes the leopard to an animal park in Nairobi.
   Five years later, Saied and Tanza are married and they have three children. They go to Nairobi to visit the animal park. The children see the leopard and Saied tells them the story of how he caught the leopard in the lighthouse.
